Help Empower Girls & Young Women

From running awareness campaigns to volunteering, young people are joining efforts at all levels to tackle the COVID-19 pandemic. Yet, youth, especially girls, young women, and gender expansive youth from communities of color, face heightened socio-economic and health impacts and an increased risk of marginalization.

3 ACTIONS TO HELP EMPOWER THE MOST MARGINALIZED GIRLS AND YOUNG WOMEN

Intensify
community
support for girls'
and young
women's education.

Lift financial barriers to
education
through donations and
mutual aid.

Ensure
meaningful participation and
recognize their creativity.

Girl Be Heard Programs

Our free year-round programs support girls and young women who want to embrace the leader within themselves and take action as energized and engaged citizens through theater-making, storytelling, and performance.

Learn more about our flagship After-School and Weekend Workshop programs.

Here are some things we've been up to during the pandemic:

- Developed a cutting-edge remote-learning program that reached 400+ participants and an audience of over 30,000
- Performed 40+ virtual shows (equivalent to 20+ hours of broadcast time)
- Created a new arts immersion camp and Girls Make Movies filmmaking program (our first new programs in 3 years)

Our work is not done.

Your support will help us to continue providing free programs to girls, young women, and gender expansive youth. Thank you!
